

I am very concerned with amount of Rf interference that the use of broadband power line transmissions will cause. The ARRL has done studies that have found that this technology will result in interference levels that will render the use of the HF bands unusable. Jon Oldenburg AB9AH